Thirty-sixth National Convention at Alpha Mu Chapter

Alpha Mu Chapter at the University of Missouri, Columbia, will be the host to our Thirty-sixth National Convention on Friday and Saturday, April 10 and 11, 1964. Professor Anna S. Benjamin, Adviser of Alpha Mu Chapter, and Scott M. Vorbeck and Ronald B. Hehn, co-chairmen of the Local Committee, are counting the days until they will have an opportunity to welcome the delegates. They are so anxious to extend proverbial Missouri hospitality to their visitors that they have planned a tea on Thursday afternoon for those who arrive early.

The Tiger Hotel, named in honor of Missouri's football team, will be the official headquarters for the convention. Since it is located only a short block from the main entrance to the campus of the University, it will be convenient. Reservations should be made by delegates directly with the hotel and cards have been mailed to each chapter to use for this. A welcoming committee will be at the Tiger on Thursday to assist the delegates when they arrive. They will direct those who arrive on Thursday afternoon to the informal reception in the Archaeological Cast Room on the campus.

The business session on Friday morning will be held in the Convention Room of the Tiger Hotel and delegates should be prepared to give a chapter report at this session. Each chapter is entitled to two voting delegates but visitors are most welcome and each chapter is urged to send as many members to the meeting as possible. Chapter advisers are especially welcome and we hope that as many as are able will be present.

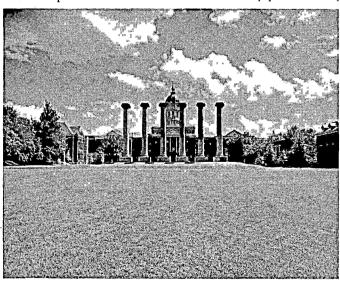

On Friday afternoon there will be a tour of the campus and the new Medical Center. This will be made on foot, since this is the easiest way to enjoy the beauty of the campus. The smooth terrain makes walking easy and delightful.

The annual subscription banquet will be held on Friday night in the new Memorial Student Union. Following the banquet the convention visitors will enjoy an informal social hour. The meeting on Saturday morning will be held in the new Arts and Science Building.

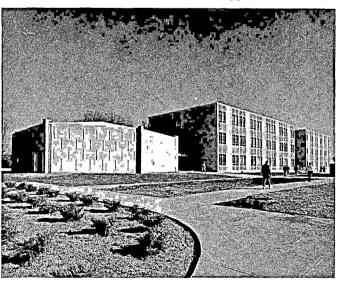

Please make your reservations with the Tiger Hotel and return the reservation slip for the banquet as soon as possible. April 10 is not very far in the future.

PETITIONS

Petitions for charters to found chapters of Éta Sigma Phi have been received from the following institutions, listed in the order in which they were received. Local chapters should inform their delegates to the National Convention of their approval or disap-

Classics Club, Seton Hill College, Greensburg, Pennsylvania. This petition is presented by a well-organized Club in a fully accredited college for young women. The offerings of the Department of Classics are excellent and give the student a wide choice of courses.

The Classical Club, College of Saint Teresa, Winona, Minnesota. This Club was organized in 1925 and adopted its present constitution in 1926. It has enjoyed interesting and useful programs during the years. The College, founded in 1907, has an enrollment of

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Orders for membership certificates which are desired before the end of the present academic year should reach the National Office by April 24. Because of the heavy load of work at the end of the school year Balfour is unable to give the usual service. Orders which reach the National Office after April 24 will be mailed during the summer or at the beginning of the new academic year. All initiates not yet reported to the National Office should be reported at once.

over one thousand students, of which about one hundred are enrolled in Classics. The chapter would be able to have some joint meetings with Gamma Lambda Chapter at St. Mary's College in the same city.

Classics Club, Carroll College, Waukesha, Wisconsin. This Club was organized November 13, 1962, and has a membership of eight people. The College, founded in 1846, has an enrollment of 950. There are twenty-five enrolled in the Department of Classics. The Department offers a full range of courses in both Greek and Latin.

Students Classics Club, College of The Holy Cross, Worcester, Massachusetts. The Club, named Ereuna, was recently founded and its eleven members have signed the petition. The College, founded in 1843, has an enrollment of 1800 students. The Department of Classics has a faculty of fourteen who teach the 660 students enrolled in the Department. About 500 of these study Latin and 220 are in courses in Greek.

Classics Club, Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pennsylvania. The Club, formed in 1961, has a membership of twenty-seven. The College, founded in 1773, is coeducational and has an enrollment of about 1150. There are sixty students enrolled in the Department, which offers a very large program in Latin and some courses in Greek. Mr. Peter Frese, President of the Classics Club, was a visitor at the National Convention in Baltimore and was instrumental in forming the petition, which has been under consideration for several years.

UNIVERSITY OF MISSOURI

The University of Missouri, founded in 1839, is the oldest state university west of the Mississippi and in the Louisiana Purchase. In recognition of the University's contribution to public higher education in the Louisiana Purchase the heirs of Thomas Jefferson presented to the University of Missouri in 1885 the original marker from the grave of Jefferson, who was instrumental in the Purchase, a granite headstone designed by the third president of the United States and cut from stone quarries on his estate at Monticello. Today this stands near the north entrance of Jesse Hall.

Visitors to the convention will enter the campus through the main gates of the West or "Red" Campus on which is inscribed the great seal of the University which contains the words Salus Populi from the motto of the State of Missouri Salus Populi Suprema Lex Esto. Through these gates lies Francis Quadrangle and the red brick buildings tell the visitor the origin of the designation "Red" Campus. The six stately Ionic columns in the center of the Quadrangle, all that remain of the University's first building, Academic Hall, after a disastrous fire in 1892, have stood through the years as a symbol of the University and have been the source of many traditions and much folklore and they always recall many fond memories to alumni of the University, among whom your editor is very proud to be numbered. Beyond the columns is Jesse Hall, the administration building, where members of the Department of Classics have always had their offices including Dean Walter Miller, who was a symbol of classical culture on the campus for so many years. To the left of the gateway is the School of Journalism, the world's first school of journalism, founded by Walter Williams in 1908.

The East Campus originally contained the buildings of the College of Agriculture, a Land-Grand college, which has always been located on the same campus with the rest of the University. This is still referred to as the "Ag" Campus, although it is more frequently called the "White" Campus because of the buildings which are constructed from native white limestone.

The two campuses are joined by a street on which the main Library faces. A beautiful tower was constructed at the entrance of the "White" Campus in 1926 as a memorial to the alumni and students who died in World War I. Today it is the center of the Memorial Student Union, the south wing of which is a memorial to students who gave their lives in World War II. Among the new dormitories on the campus is Johnston Hall, a resdence for women, named in honor of Professor Eva Johnston, a Professor of Latin and one of the great women of the University in the past. Also on the campus is the Missouri School of Religion, which provides religious instruction for the students.

In the late 1950's a new Medical Center was constructed in Columbia at a cost of $14 million. The University also includes the School of Mines and Metallurgy at Rolla, a branch in a suburb of St. Louis, and the recently acquired University of Kansas City.

COLUMBIA

Columbia is situated in approximately the center of the State of Missouri, half-way between St. Louis and Kansas City, on the gently rolling plains. The town was incorporated in 1826, four years after the building of the first brick house in the area, and became the county seat of the recently organized Boone County, named in honor of the pioneer Daniel Boone. This new town was considered a suitable location for the new university since it was away from the enticements of the large cities and the young students would find it easier to live a good life here. No railroad ever passed through the town but branch lines connected it with major railroads to the north and south of the town. In 1851 Christian College was established here as the first women's college west of the Mississippi, and its present Campus Community Program knits together academic and extracurricular activties in an unusual way for the four hundred women in its two-year curriculum. Stephens College is a world-famous college for women, originally founded as an Academy in 1833, whose 1700 students may choose between an Associate in Arts degree in its two-year program or a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree in music, theater arts, fashion design, and dance. Its new James M. Wood Learning Center has been the source of much interest among educators. The Chamber of Commerce of Columbia advertises that "Education is our Business." The city has a permanent population of about 40,000 and a student population which is fast approaching 20,000. Modern highways make the city readily accessible today. It is located on U. S. Highway 40 running east-west and north-south U.S.

Highway 63. It will be the only city on U. S. Interstate 70 between St. Louis and Kansas City. A branch of the Wabash Railroad from Centralia connects the city with the main line of the Railroad, and there was a time when no student could feel that his education was complete until he had "enjoyed" a ride on this public conveyance. (Some of the above information was taken from the Columbia Chamber of Commerce's COLUMBIA FALL 1963.)

Gift to Endowment Fund

Members of Beta Alpha Chapter at the State University of South Dakota presented their Adviser, Professor Grace L. Beede, with a check for $15.00 for her favorite "charity" at the Saturnalia party. Professor Beede very graciously and loyally decided without any hesitation that this meant the Endowment Fund of Eta Sigma Phi and we are most grateful to her and the members of Beta Alpha Chapter.

AMONG THE CHAPTERS

Pl Birmingham-Southern College

Interest continues to be very good among the members of Pi Chapter. Miss Lucy Robertson, an alumna of the College who is Head of the Languages Department in one of the large city schools of Birmingham, told the members of Pi Chapter about her experiences at the American Academy in Rome at the January meeting. Mr. Butts gave an illustrated talk on columns at the February meeting at the request of Damon Nolin, Hyparchos of the chapter and program chairman. The chapter is planning to send a delegate to the national convention.

LAMBDA University of Mississippi

Professor Evelyn Lee Way, Adviser of Lambda Chapter, says that the chapter will award a Latin medal for the best student in second-year Latin in the high school in Oxford.

PSI Vanderbilt University

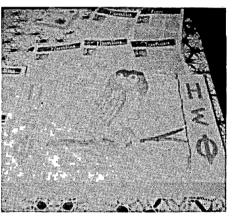

Prytanis Carter Philips of Psi Chapter reports that "On Monday night, February 17, Psi Chapter held a program to which all the students of Greek and Latin at Vanderbilt were invited. About thirty of us met to hear a program presented by Professor Francis L. Inewton, our Adviser, and Jane Poston, our Hyparchos. Jane, who lived last summer in Gubbio, Italy, with the Experiment in International Living, showed slides that she made during her trip, particularly of the ancient Roman theatre in Gubbio. The theatre there is one of the best-preserved of the early theatres, and extensive restoration has taken place. Using the slides as a basis of his remarks, Dr. Newton spoke to us on Roman drama, the physical theatre, and its place in Italian social life. After the meeting, we held a social hour. Everyone seemed to enjoy the evening very much. At that time I distributed the January issue of NUN-TIUS. All of us were interested in Maureen McGratty's essay on Horace's Roman odes, particularly our freshmen guests, since they studied Horace last semester.'

ALPHA EPSILON Lehigh University

Grammateus Donald L. Shotola of Alpha Epsilon Chapter writes that "We held an executive meeting several days ago to plan the activities for the remainder of the year. The main event is to be the celebration of our thirtyfifth anniversary. We will have a dinner at an appropriate Italian restaurant and a program of speakers including, we hope, some of the founders of our chapter. Dr. Maurer, our Adviser, has arranged to have a noted lecturer appear in one of the coming months. We ironed out details for awarding superior Latin students of the local high schools. The officers are very enthusiastic about attending the national convention at the University of Missouri. Three of us have decided to drive to Columbia and are now making arrangements for the 1900 mile round-trip.'

ALPHA PI Gettysburg College

Alpha Pi Chapter had an interesting series of meetings during the fall, according to the report of Grammateus Carole Smith. Twelve new members were initiated in October and following the banquet Dr. John Glenn, the chapter Adviser, showed slides which he made on his recent trip to Italy and Greece. At the November meeting Mr. Norman Annis of the Department of Art at the College spoke on "Greek Sculpture." The December meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Ruth Pavlontos, a member of the faculty of the Department of Classics, and took the form of a Saturnalian feast. Many members and advisers attended in costume. Megas Chrysophylax William H. Marshner, the Prytanis, read his dissertation in Greek on the value of Eta Sigma Phi at Gettysburg College.

BETA ALPHA State University of South Dakota

On a beautiful Christmas card which showed a drawing of her "Happy House" retreat in the Rockies Professor Grace L. Beede, Adviser of Beta Alpha Chapter, gave an enthusiastic account of the chapter's Saturnalia, which was held on December 12. "Five Greek members and friends in native costume spiced the toga-clad scene, and after spectacular Greek dances they taught the group two less strenuous circle and line dances—fun and memorable for all."

BETA OMICRON Mount Mary College

Volume IX of ANGELIA, December 1963, was edited by Beta Omicron Chapter. ANGELIA is the publication of the Wisconsin chapters of Eta Sigma Phi. This was a beautiful edition with a drawing from a Greek vase on the cover. In addition to news items from Beta Omicron, Beta Sigma at Marquette University, and Gamma Gamma at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee the magazine printed the essay of Sandra Mueller of Beta Omicron which won an award in the Eta Sigma Phi Contests last year, a beautiful translation of Catullus III by Jolie Siebold of Beta Omicron, Silent Night in German, Latin and Greek, and the papers from the symposium which was reported by Gamma Gamma Chapter in the last issue of NUNTIUS. We extend our congratulations upon the attractive issue of ANGELIA.

DELTA BETA Canisius College

Prytanis David M. Lee of Delta Beta Chapter says that the problem which his chapter has is not that it has been inactive but rather that it has been too active. Among its activities he reports that "Last semester Delta Beta Chapter sponsored a film "Greek Sculpture" which highlighted the masterpieces of Greek and Roman sculpture. The chapter also sponsored several lectures. One was given by John Mellody, a member of the chapter. Last summer John spent several weeks doing archaeological work along Hadrian's wall in Great Britain. In his lecture John related to his fellow members the techniques, tools and methods used in such work. The chapter also had two other lectures, both slide lectures on Greece and Rome. The semester was concluded with a Christmas party."

DELTA GAMMA Marywood College

Delta Gamma Chapter and the Classics Forum of Marywood College sponsored its annual Vergilian Contest on

IN CANADA

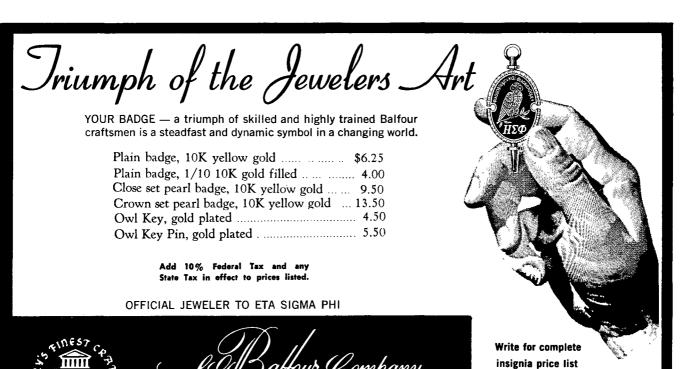

February 15. Fourteen schools were represented by about thirty contestants. Sister St. Mary, I.H.M., President of Marywood College, presented the awards. The Rafferty Memorial Trophies were awarded to the winning schools and the contestants who won these for their schools were awarded Eta Sigma Phi medals. The photograph below shows Sister M. Josephine,

Grammateus Judith Kales writes the national office that Delta Delta Chapter is planning to initiate new members in March. James M. Moscovich is the Prytanis of the chapter now and Anna Burko is Hyparchos. Six members of the chapter took part in the Eta Sigma Phi Contests.
